Easy does it Kim.

Make-up and preperformance paralysis.

"... your favorite chair, Uncle Stanly!"

What's wrong Debbie?

Pay attention Lisa...

Building trade guys at work on the new concession stand.

What's under there Maureen?

That pie is a little messy, huh Mr. Callahan.

THE POM-PON SQUAD

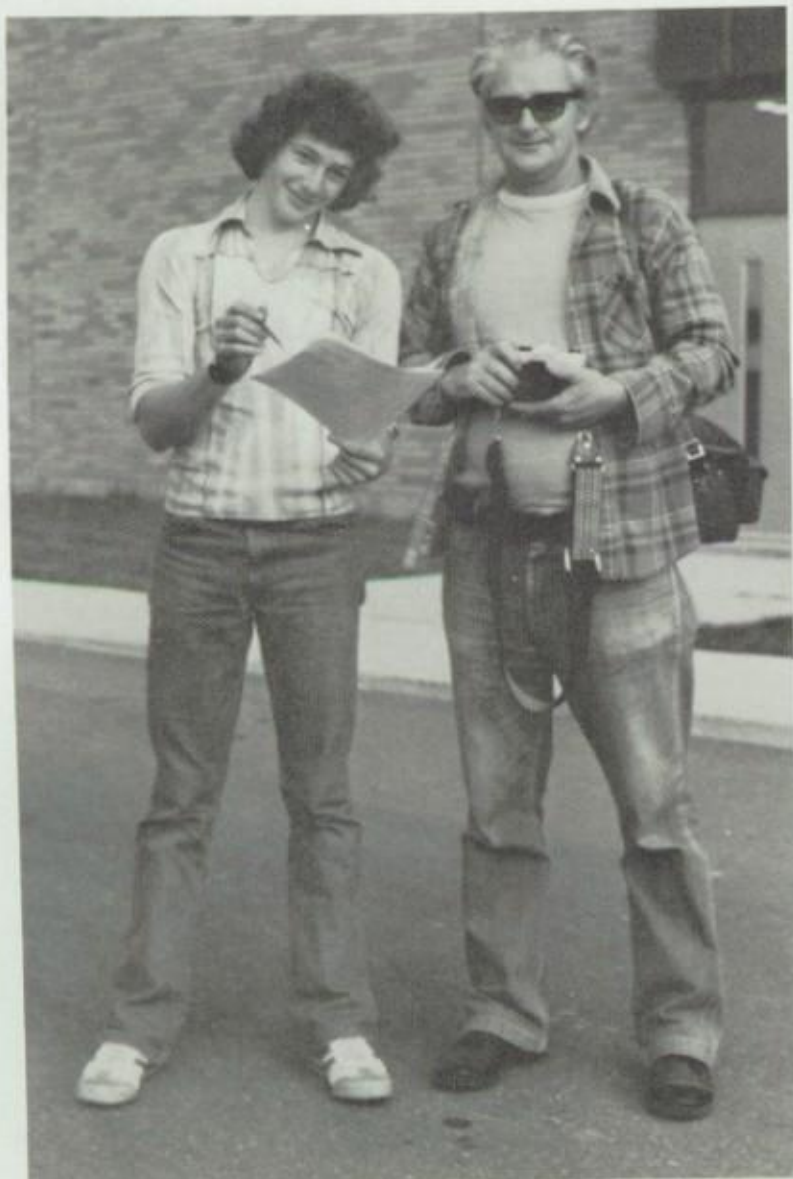

I can't understand, I cut it three times and it's still too short.

What kind of magazines are those Joe?

Studying is a lot easier with Dorito's!

"Now - If I was running this school..."

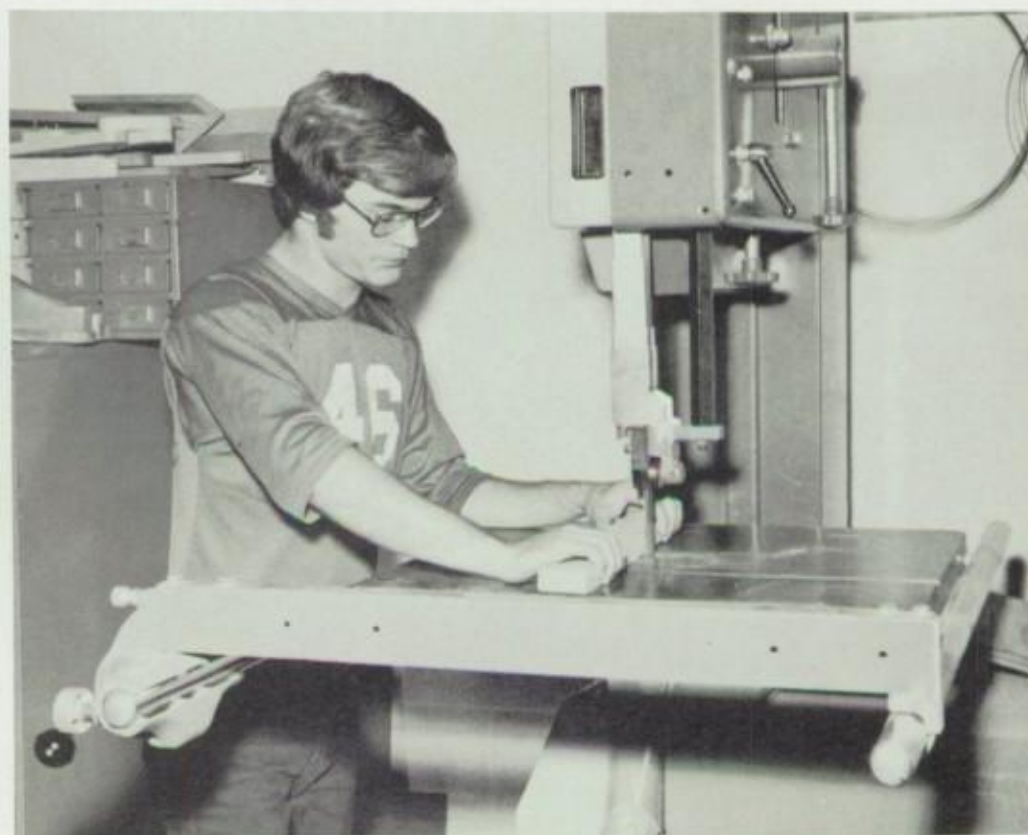

Boy's Gym class hard at work!

Does your mother know where you are?

Jody is still going around in circles.

Don't be so bashful, look at the camera.

Watch your fingers Ken!

"Shhhh! Norm might wake up."
All of this is really very boring.

Cathy Sasse during the majorette fire routine.

Where are your manners, Derwood?

Just don't stand there
Dar, ask her to dance.

Easy with the marker
Dolores.

.Go Coleman Go!.

Don't look so guilty.

Don't worry Carlon it will be better!

Listen to the coach, Joe!

Young Love!

"All right everybody... F above high C."

What a dance!

The theme for the float competition was "movies". The Freshmen took 1st Place with their float entitled "Jaws".

WE DEDICATE THIS ANNUAL TO MR. HENRY COLEBANK

We dedicate the 1978 yearbook to a person who is respected among students, faculty, and the Coleman Community. He has taught at Coleman High School for the past 14 years. The first play he directed was in the spring of 1965, and has directed many plays since. Through the years he has been a Class Advisor, F.T.A. Sponsor, Newspaper Advisor, Forensics Coach, Drama Director, and Past President of the Coleman Education Association.

We thank you "Red Rook," for all the years you have given us.

CLASS POEM

Life in school began with uncertainty;
 Pausing, timid steps before the doors
 Began the brief interlude of youth,
 And time gathered moments, kept scores
 Tallying up triumphs as well as defeats,
 Watching closely as we unwittingly grew,
 The dormant seed that once slept within
 Developed into individuals, each different and new.
 The future now offers challenges and chance
 For dreams and goals to be fulfilled,
 And each and every member of this future plan
 Has the foundation of the past on which to build.

Life is long, but yet we live it
Only one minute at a time.
For each minute we live
We should live to the fullest,
For that is one minute less
We have to live.

Phil Tigner

Where do we go from here?
